

UnEssay Topic Selection Document

The Topic Selection Document is the first step in the UnEssay course project. Write a short, five paragraph written description of your intended UnEssay topic and your plan for how it will be represented. Also, include at least three relevant and properly referenced sources to be consulted throughout the research process. Along with each source, include a brief annotated summary of the main ideas, results, and conclusions along with a critical assessment of the source's quality and reliability.

The purpose of this assignment is to begin crafting a goal and a solid plan for successfully completing the UnEssay. It's to help you start to organize your ideas and source material. You may find you need to do even more research on your chosen topic after completing this assignment. That's ok. You are not even necessarily committed to your goal and plan; these will not be compared against your final submission.

Learning Outcomes

- Examine and appraise scientific data, claims, and concepts for making wise decisions affecting themselves and others.
- Express and reflect on quantum mechanical ideas, applications, or open questions in writing and other formats.